BAKES AND SLEEPS.
By FRANCES MARSHALL.

Baking powder, as every one knows, has a negative value so far as its own nutritive qualities are concerned. Yet it is baking powder that makes much available of the nutritive quality of wheat. For what but baking powder makes cake and muffins and biscuits and many other delicacies easy to digest? If they were baked without the powder they would, indeed, be too heavy to digest.

Most places pure baking powder can be bought without any difficulty. But in some places the available supply of baking powder is open to suspicion. In such places homemade baking powder should be the rule. Moreover, if several housewives together make their own baking powder a considerable saving of cost can be effected.

There are two requisites to good baking powder—thorough mixing and absolute smoothness, both acquired by working over and over the powder, and dryness. Water without baking powder forms

Getting Ready for That Fourth of July Picnic

Here is a list of things needed for the picnic, which can be bought several days in advance and which are helpful at all times: Wax paper, plain white paper napkins, paper tablecloth (if one goes where there is a table), paper drinking cups, paper or splint plates. If a large party, a splint basket; if an auto party, a hamper; if a small party, a basket. If a small party, a bottle opener for the grape juice or ginger ale.

The sandwiches are made the evening before and each wrapped separately; it is very much easier to mince ham, tongue, lamb or cheese than to put slices of meat between the bread. The minced meat can be seasoned and flavored correctly; it is much nicer to eat and no danger of having all the meat with the first bite. Egg sandwiches with the deviled eggs are much more tasty than hard-boiled eggs with butter. Chop the white pepper, dash paprika. Chop the olives very fine, mix all the ingredients together and make a smooth paste.

Minced-Chicken Sandwiches.
Two cups cold boiled chicken (no skin), two hard-boiled eggs, two tablespoons mayonnaise, one teaspoon salt (celery), one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon finely chopped parsley. Put chicken and egg through the meat chopper, and add the mayonnaise and seasoning; mix well, and spread between bread.

Cheese Paste.
One cup grated American cheese, twelve stuffed olives, two tablespoons melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoons chopped parsley, dash white pepper, dash paprika. Chop the olives very fine, mix all the ingredients together and make a smooth paste.

Pimento Sandwich.
One cup canned pimento, chopped fine; two neufchâtel cheeses, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon white pepper, two tablespoons melted butter. Mix all the ingredients together and make into a smooth paste. Spread between thin slices of white bread.

Neufchâtel Cheese and Peanut Butter Sandwich.
One neufchâtel cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon chopped parsley, one teaspoon peanut butter, dash white pepper, dash paprika. Mix all the ingredients and add milk enough so that it will spread easily. Spread on thin slices of bran bread and press together.

Raisin Paste Sandwiches.
One cup seeded raisins, one-half cup English walnuts, or four tablespoons of peanuts, two tablespoons orange marmalade. This paste will keep a long time if put in a jelly glass. Cut white or whole wheat bread very thin and spread with the paste; no butter is used with this sandwich.

A box of candied ginger, salted peanuts, olives, or sweet cherries make a good addition to the picnic meal.

LITTLE JAPANESE GARDENS.

Just at present no home is complete without a Japanese garden in miniature. These are made in wide shallow bowls sold for the purpose, a little water is put in the bottom of the receptacle and some rugged horridish rock added. These rocks serve as islands and peninsulas and the village or garden is built around them. "Properties" for this purpose are sold at 5 and 10 cents apiece and there is no need to be afraid of the Japanese houses, bridges, temples, arches, shrines, boats, little figures and animals. One can spend as much or as little as he wishes, but a better entertainment for a sick child, or a shut-in, has never been devised. Japanese grass seed is sold, it grows up quickly, as do also mustard seed and the sprouts on the horseradish.

FOR GRAINY FROSTING.

If when making bread frosting one has cooked the sugar and water too long, and it grains, a teaspoonful of butter added will make it creamy and smooth, when beaten.

A good face is a letter of recommendation, as a good heart is a letter of credit.—Bulwer.

WHAT IS THE SKIRT OF THE MOMENT?

The full tunic over the scant foundation skirt is seen everywhere. In the three frocks sketched it is shown in varying lengths. On the right is a frock of blue satin. In the center is one of blue serge, trimmed with black moiré silk and on the left is a suit of deep green linen, with a white pique waistcoat and collar.

Famous Woman—Her Birthday and Yours

MRS. HARRIET GROTE

By FRANCES MARSHALL.

Mme. Gay, the clever French writer whose birthday occurred on July 1, was noted for the fact that she was not afraid of Napoleon. For his part, Napoleon was a little afraid of her sharp tongue and brilliant rejoinders. When Mme. Gay was first presented to the great man in his study, he turned to her and said: "Madame, my waters have told you, have they not, that I have no love for brilliant women?" "Yes," replied the brilliant Frenchwoman, "but I did not believe them."

"Napoleon could not expect this sort of an answer so, assuming a critical air, he said: "You attempt to write, I am told. Now what great work have you written during the last few years?" Mme. Gay looked at the Emperor with a twinkle in her eyes. "I have written a book," she said simply and the Emperor was forced to retreat.

DAILY HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1914.

According to astrology this is a day in which good and evil influences balance. Saturn, the planet of adversity, is in benefic aspect. The figure is read as indicating revolutionary movements of many sorts and much trouble in various countries of the world. There is a sign that foreshadows war and discontent, which reaches persons of every class.

Mexico will continue to be the center of strife, even though diplomacy may appear to promise peace, the seeds declare. Mars gives warning of continual bloodshed and trouble which will not be suppressed completely for some time. Saturn, the planet that rules the tenure of land, presages great losses for proprietors of big estates and the division of large holdings.

Serious troubles are threatened, also, for France, since Mars is close to the meridian at Paris.

This is a day believed to be favorable for buying. Investments are subject to an encouraging omen, which promises ample returns.

The influences are said to be especially fortunate for scholars and graduates of universities, judges, Senators and those who rule by the power of intellect.

There is a lucky omen for athletes, especially for wrestlers and those who can perform unusual feats. Baseball players should benefit.

Ancient lore found these astral conditions helpful to all who perform household tasks. Baking is subject to the best conditions.

While Saturn is friendly today it is an auspicious time to begin building or repairing. Real estate transactions are subject to beneficent guidance. It is an especially good rule for the study of economics or for the work of organizing.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the prognostication of a year that is prosperous. Travel and change for the better are foreshadowed. Young girls will have offers of marriage. Artists and musicians are particularly fortunate. Children born on this day will be strong in character and well-conducted. In business or professional life they will succeed. Their magnetic center is the Sun in Cancer, and they are ruled principally by the Moon.

MEN AND MAKE-UP.

Every man rails violently against make-up. The German Emperor, when in London, criticized the way in which English women painted their faces. Yet when he went back to Berlin he declared that they were the prettiest women anywhere to be seen.

It is my belief says a London writer, that when a man sees no actual traces of powder he does not recognize make-up, and is pleased with the effect.

A girl I once knew who was married to a devoted husband promised him during their honeymoon not to make-up at all, but very soon broke her promise. "How could you?" asked her mother. "Because I know what Harry likes better than Harry knows himself," was the reply.

THE SUMMER COLD.

Absolute rest and warmth provide the quickest treatment whether the malady be "only a cold" or genuine influenza. A hot mustard bath, followed by one or two days in bed, will often work a speedy cure, or at least prevent a sharp illness, and the complications, such as neuritis or heart trouble, that so frequently follow.

"A Spy for a Day."

(Playing tonight at 22d and P. Sts.) Michael Perrin, the lovable, guileless old parish priest, is quite the most remarkable character that has ever been depicted in motion pictures.

From laughter to tears you will follow his career as a teacher of little children and then the crowning adventure of his life—his service under Napoleon as chief of police as a spy for a day.

It is at a time when Napoleon's power is at its height, that Michael Perrin, beloved church, is burned by royalist troops and he seeks consolation in Paris with his niece, Therese.

Amazed to discover that his niece is living in comparative poverty, Michael seeks out his old classmate, Fouché, now chief of police, and asks him for a position. Fouché thereupon advises Father Perrin that it will be his duty to wander about Paris and report what he has seen each day for which the salary will be 120 francs per week.

Now, Therese is in love with Bernard and Bernard has pledged his support to a band of conspirators plotting the assassination of Napoleon.

When Father Perrin makes out his report, he accidentally makes a scrap of paper left in his house by the conspirators, and great is his amazement to be told that he has saved his country by revealing the names of its enemies.

When the conspirators are arrested, Bernard escapes, but the others are turned over to Perrin to discipline. He magnanimously lets them go and they, in return for his kindness, write him a note saying they are leaving the country. They only express their regret that so generous a man should act the part of a spy.

"The Hour of Reckoning."

(At Central Park tonight.) Cast: Vivian Burr, Clara Williams, John Burr, Walter Edwards, Herbert Rawson, Arthur Jarrett.

For ten years John Burr went from pillar to post. When Vivian, his wife, ran away with Herbert Rawson, Burr's ability to concentrate on his scientific work had deserted him. His restlessness knew no cure. At last he joined the army.

Rawson, with Vivian—since divorced and married to Rawson—came to Fort McRae on government business. He was a surveyor's camp, the colonel and his guests were surprised by the Indians. Rawson and his wife were persuaded to go into a backwood with a certain "Corp. Redding," who would drive them to safety. But finding that they were to be cut off before they could reach the fort, the three fugitives took refuge in a deserted cabin.

"Redding" revealed his identity—and Vivian went on her knees to her former husband. He stood over her, covering Rawson with his gun. "I'll kill you. I've sworn to do it." His voice was dry as powder—past all emotion.

The next instant he was grappling with an Indian who had leaped in at a window and flung himself upon Vivian. Rawson fed the hut. He fell dead on the door-sill. The wife was thick with ash and the din of a fresh Indian charge. They were rushing in frantic hordes down the side of the gulch. Vivian clung to Burr's wrist.

"Kill me!" Her lips framed the words convulsively. "They will, if you don't. Maybe worse."

A spasm over her face. She thought of a man she once had seen struck by lightning. Then she saw him raise the gun.

Queries and Comments.

Moving picture followers are invited to submit their inquiries and comments to the Motion Picture Editor and are requested to write on but one side of the paper.

Motion Picture Editor: Was greatly pleased when I saw that you had answered my question in Saturday's paper. I think it is really wonderful how popular Margaret Clayton, of the Western Esplanade Company, has become. She is ahead of Alice Joyce in the popular player contest conducted by the Motion Picture Story Magazine, and I think she will soon be in first place. She is a splendid little actress, and in her chat, she said that she had never had stage experience before joining the Esplanade Company. I will really have a fit if I don't see Rosemary Theby soon. Please let me know where she can be seen anywhere in Washington. In the "Perils of Pauline" (Pathe Freres) is Pearl White, Pauline? I saw in your paper this morning where Mary Fuller had left Edison for the Universal. Is this really true?

TEDDY: Rosemary Theby can be seen today in "The Love of the Pitt" at the Apollo Theater and tomorrow in the same film at the Rhode Island, Seventh and Rhode Island avenue northwest. Pearl White is Pauline. I am sure that Mary Fuller will hereafter play for Universal, but no statement has been given to the public from either the Edison or the Universal companies.

MARY FULLER.
Leading Lady Now With Universal.

Motion Picture Editor: Will you kindly tell me who is Mary Pickford's husband? Also, is Alice Joyce Tom Moore's wife? Is it so that Francis X. Bushman is single? I heard that he was married. Where and when will House Peters play here again? CYNTHIA.

Cynthia: Owen Moore is the husband of Mary Pickford, and Alice Joyce is married to his brother, Tom Moore. Francis X. Bushman is single. Watch for the announcement of House Peters.

Motion Picture Editor: I was just thinking that as Mr. T. R. isn't able to do much talking at present, why don't he write short articles and have them thrown on the screen? He would be able to reach a lot of people in that way, and to me, it seems that it would appeal to the people. Of course, I know that he wouldn't pay any attention to this, but some day someone might.

Some time ago either you or some one else suggested a popular players' contest in this city, and why don't you carry that out, haven't seen anything of the sort here, and they are successful other places. Why not here? Will I be able to see the plays "Quo Vadis," "The Last Days of Pompeii" and the pictures of the baseball teams around the world, and when? CAL.

CAL: The pictures showing the baseball team around the world will be shown July 21 at the Orpheum on Ninth street. They are Pathe films. "Quo Vadis" and "The Last Days of Pompeii" are State rights pictures, and there is no Washington agent for them. Write to the George Kline Company, of Philadelphia, for accurate information.

Santa Monica and a short intermission had been given for lunch. Long wandered off by himself in his crook make-up, went into a small restaurant. The proprietor eyed him all over, refusing to serve such a suspicious looking character, and as the movie actor was starting to leave the cafe he ran into the arms of a waiting policeman. It seemed that the restaurant keeper had phoned the police almost the next moment after Long had put in an appearance. Explanations followed, and "the crook" was permitted to return and eat his lunch in peace.
